

If You Could See Through The Trees

By David Marin

If you could see through the trees in Los Altos Hills you'd see many homes with interior design done by Amy Fischer, collaborating with Los Altos Hills residents for more than 20 years. An award-winning designer, Amy's Los Altos Hills client Master Bath design was just featured in a six-page spread in the Summer, 2018 issue of Better Homes & Gardens Beautiful Kitchens and Baths magazine - on national newsstands through September.

"Our Los Altos Hills clients have been extremely supportive over the years, continuing to refer our services to their friends" Amy says. "Our typical projects are large-scale new construction where we begin at design inception and finish with turn-key home furnishings installations. Frequently our client projects will lead to us also designing vacation properties, investment spec homes, private offices and yachts."

Amy Fischer attributes her foundational experience in luxury new construction to Los Altos based residential builder, Owen Signature Homes, where she led the interior design division for their custom home development for nearly 15 years. "I am so grateful to have had this exposure because it engrained in me the importance of schedules and budgets, and sharpened my discerning eye for quality craftsmanship."

In 2012, Amy founded her design firm, Spectrum Interior Design, to encompass the full spectrum of design solutions for fine living. With new homes or major redesign projects, Spectrum teams from day one with architects and builders, so instead of being constrained by the shape of a home, the home is designed around what will be in it. "We work closely with the architect to refine floor plans, knowing the furnishing layouts and the specialty lifestyle needs of our clients. While we are overseeing construction, we are also planning and procuring home furnishings, custom drapery, artwork and home décor to complete with one turn-key installation."

Residents familiar with Amy Fischer and Spectrum Interior Design in Los Altos will be pleased to learn that they have expanded their operation to a nearly 4,000 square foot showroom and design studio in Mountain View just minutes away. The firm's design showroom boasts a comprehensive construction material library for people building new homes and a vast procurement library of textiles, furnishings, lighting, accessories, and seasonal decorations. "Our Los Altos Hills clients lead busy lives. They really appreciate being able to make every design decision from the convenience of our showroom" Amy says.

Clients describe Amy's enthusiasm for every facet of design as "infectious." As a true lifestyle designer, her passion doesn't stop with just tile installations and fabric selections. Fischer travels the country's trade-exclusive design markets to curate her private collection of home accessories and specialty holiday decorations. Los Altos Hills clients leave their home to Spectrum's team for the day to come home in the evening to a magical winter wonderland! What is there not to love about having your own secret Santa's Elves? The firm's holiday services include personalized purchasing, decoration, disassembly and organization.

To learn more, visit:

SpectrumInteriorDesign.com. Their Mountain View design studio and showroom is by appointment only. 1954 Old Middlefield Way, Suite 100. Mountain View. 650-948-1913.